SOUTH FRANKFORT.

Proceedings of the Board of Trustees.

Part of Second Street Sold, Side Walks Built and Another Well Dug.

It will be seen from this chapter that each trustee generally looked after his immediate neighborhood and that most of the improvements made were generally where some member of the board would be most benefited by the same. Some new names come into the board and list of officers, while the old veteran, Larkin Samuel, seems to have lost interest in town affairs and is also lost sight of so far as the minutes show.

March 2, 1833—Benjamin Hensley, C. S. Morehead, J. J. Vest, S. Q. Richardson and George W. Graham were elected trustees. J. J. Vest was elected chairman, C. G. Graham clerk and E. S. Coleman assessor.

June 22—Daniel Epperson was elected a trustee to fill the vacancy occasioned by the removal of J. J. Vest from the town. $100 appropriated to Hawkins Wickersham for work done over the ravine between Mrs. Humphreys' and John H. Hanna's, to be paid in installments of $25, with 6 per cent. interest.

August 15—Ten dollars appropriated to repair and improve Todd street, the work to be done under the superintendence of E. S. Coleman. The rate of taxation was fixed at 12½ cents on the hundred, with 50 cents as the poll tax. C. G. Graham resigned as clerk. Geo. W. Graham elected chairman to fill the place of Mr. Vest and Geo. W. Gwin elected clerk. The chairman directed to call on the treasurer for a statement of the situation of his accounts and the situation and amount of the funds.

October 21—Thos. J. Mayhall appointed collector. Geo. W. Gwin appointed to contract for the flagging of the sidewalk along the turnpike from the south end of the present flagging at J. Neal's house to the turnpike road.

February 27, 1834—Jas. Brown allowed an account of $3.13 for services as a blacksmith and Jas. L. Duke allowed the sum of three shillings for work done on pump irons.

March 3—John Gayle, C. S. Morehead, E. S. Coleman, L. Batchelor and George W. Graham elected trustees. L. Batchelor elected chairman pro tem and Geo. W. Gwin clerk.

March 11—Account of Gervis E. Russell for advertising sale of lots in South Frankfort, amounting to $2 50, allowed. John Gayle appointed to contract for and superintend the repairing of the wooden abutment at the corner of John H. Hanna's yard fence on the right hand side of the road leading from the bridge to the mouth of Benson, and that the said Gayle contract for and superintend the repairing of the road and also the bridge upon said road. E. S. Coleman and Geo. W. Gwin appointed to contract for and superintend the opening of the old ditch leading from the turnpike road along John H. Hanna's fence, on the right hand side of the street leading from said turnpike to E. S. Coleman's. Which ditch shall terminate at and empty into the ravine or branch which runs through L. Batchelor's lot, below Daniel Epperson's house.

July 12—Geo. W. Gwin elected assessor and Daniel Epperson elected a trustee in place of John Gayle, who had removed from the town.

September 20—Daniel Epperson having removed to the North Side, William S. Pemberton was elected a trustee to fill the vacancy. Micajah Goins had an account allowed for repairing pump near Benjamin Hensley's. James Watson allowed $9 00 for filling up well near J. H. Hanna's gate. That part of Second street beginning at the new turnpike road and running back westwardly to the town limits sold to Mrs. Mary Humphreys for $50.

Having made the sale the board seems to have taken a rest, as the date of the next meeting is May 9th, 1835, when C. S. Morehead, John S. Robson, John Campbell and T. J. Mayhall appear as trustees. John S. Robson was elected chairman, G. W. Gwin clerk, and Geo. W. Graham treasurer. Wm. M. Todd was elected trustee in place of E. S. Coleman, who declined to act. James L. Duke was allowed an account of $2.25 for fixing pump irons. An account of the Kentucky Penitentiary for $3 for repairing pump handle on the 25th of August, 1832, nearly three years before, was allowed. C. S. Morehead allowed $9 50 for so much cash paid by him to George Johnson for repairing sidewalk or foot pavement leading from the bend of the turnpike near Benjamin Hensley's to S. Neal's corner near the bridge. The salary of the clerk was fixed at two dollars for each meeting of the board. C. S. Morehead, Wm. M. Todd and Geo. W. Gwin appointed to settle with Benjamin Hensley on behalf of the board, but for what the settlement was to be made the book fails to show. Geo. W. Gwin and Thos. J. Mayhall appointed a committee to contract for removing the old pavement running through John H. Hanna's lot and for laying a new pavement from the northeast corner of L. Batchelor's fence, along the east side of John H. Hanna's lot to the corner thereof, and from thence along the north side of said Hanna's lot and down the old turnpike to east end of the brick pavement which runs in front said Hanna's yard fence, and that said contract be carried into effect forthwith.

December 18—Geo. W. Graham resigned as treasurer and was elected a trustee in place of Wm. M. Todd, who failed to accept the position. Thos. J. Mayhall resigned as trustee and John Vaughan elected to fill the vacancy.

March 12, 1836—Chas. S. Morehead, John S. Robson, Geo. W. Graham, Edward S. Coleman and Daniel Epperson elected trustees. Chas. S. Morehead elected chairman, Geo. W. Gwin clerk, treasurer and assessor, Lydall Bacon, sr., collector. Chas. S. Morehead, as chairman, authorized in behalf of the town to subscribe for five shares of stock in the new bridge proposed to be erected across the river at B. Hensley's ferry, provided the company of said bridge will make a permanent road from the south end of said bridge to intersect the new turnpike road proposed to be made in the direction of the old road running through South Frankfort.

April 9—Geo. W. Gwin and Daniel Epperson appointed a committee to contract with W. S. Pemberton for the purpose of enlarging and making deeper the ditch for carrying off the water along the east side of John H. Hanna's property.

June 14—Geo. W. Gwin and Daniel Epperson appointed to contract with Micajah Goins for the digging of a well near the property of said Gwin and Epperson, Goins agreeing to dig and complete the well, insuring a plentiful supply of good water, for fifty dollars.

February 1, 1837—Goins' account of fifty dollars for above work allowed. Geo. W. Gwin and Daniel Epperson appointed a committee to contract for the flagging of a stone walk from the east end of Geo. Gwin's yard fence to intersect the flag pavement running to Edward S. Coleman's and also contract for the flagging of a walk from the bridge to intersect the pavement fronting John H. Hanna's house.

March 11, 1837—Chas. S. Morehead, John Campbell, Daniel Epperson, O. G. Cates and George W. Graham elected trustees. O. G. Cates elected chairman, Geo. W. Gwin clerk, E. S. Coleman assessor and Lydall Bacon, sr., collector. John Campbell, E. S. Coleman and Daniel Epperson appointed a committee to examine into the situation of the streets generally through the town and report. E. S. Coleman, G. W. Graham and Daniel Epperson appointed a committee to examine and inquire into the condition of the town in relation to its cleanliness and healthy situation, and make report as to any and everything which they may consider a nuisance so that some speedy means may be adopted of removing the same.

March 18—Dan'l Epperson appointed a commissioner to contract for the building of a bridge across the ravine or branch which divides the late residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell from the present turnpike road and make report. O. G. Cates, Dan'l Epperson and John Campbell appointed commissioners to view the streets and alleys and ascertain and report what streets and alleys belonging to the town have been improperly, or without the consent of the board, closed up, that the proper steps may be forthwith taken to remove the obstructions. A committee also appointed to act with the county surveyor, and survey the town for the purpose of ascertaining the exact location of the streets and alleys, as well as the location of the lots according to their numbers, and plant stones at the four corners of the squares so that purchasers and owners may be enabled to ascertain the exact location and boundary of any and every lot laid down on the plat of the town. O. G. Cates and Chas. S. Morehead appointed to draw up a code of by-laws for the regulation of the town. The clerk ordered to renew and draw off the map of the town, including the Kentucky river as it stands upon the old map, North Frankfort, as it stands upon said map, to be omitted. Philip Swigert ordered to open a part of Main street, which he had fenced up.

June 16—John Campbell employed to build a good substantial fence around and enclose the spring known as Mrs. Mitchell's spring, to prevent the abuse of said spring by stock or otherwise. Lydall Bacon, sr., appointed marshal of the town and invested with power to enforce the laws and ordinances of the town. The tax rate was again fixed at 10 cents on the hundred dollars. L. Bacon gave bond as collector, with R. D. Owen as surety.

December 19—O. G. Cates authorized to institute proceedings and defend suits for the protection of streets, alleys, and public highways and foot pavements, and especially to remove or restrain any obstruction to the foot pavement on Second, Conway and Ewing streets, and the alley running parallel with Ewing street, on the east side, or any other street or alley within the town limits, and he is authorized to use any legal means to protect any public property within the limits of the town of South Frankfort.

January 26, 1838—Account of E. S. Coleman for work done on streets, and for services as assessor, amounting to $34, allowed. Also account of Brown & Hodges for advertising, amounting to $2 allowed. Daniel Epperson and John Campbell appointed a committee to have pond near residence of O. G. Cates and also pond standing in front of property lately owned by Mildred Funtstall, drained.

C. G. Graham was a son of Geo. W. Graham and the father of Mr. C. Gran, Graham, of the Adams Express office. For many years he kept a livery stable which stood where the stable of W. B. Luckett now is on Ann street. Gervis E. Russell was in the printing business here for a long time and was the father of Mr. W. F. Russell and grandfather of Judge W. H.

Sneed and Mr. John W. Rodman. John Campbell was the father of Miss Margaret Campbell and Mrs. J. H. Williamson. At the time of his death he was keeping the St. Clair street bridge. Wm. M. Todd was a brother of Mrs. Mary J. Lewis and an uncle of Mr. R. K. McClure. For many years he was in business where Mr. R. K. McClure now is. He was a leading member of the First Presbyterian Church and Superintendent of the Sunday school. He removed to Woodford county to live, where he died in 1865 and is buried here in the cemetery. Philip Swigert was the grandfather of Mr. J. Buford Hendrick and was for many Circuit Clerk, afterwards president of the Farmers Bank, and organized the Deposit Bank of which he was president when he died in 1871.

Littlebury Batchelor was the father of Mr. Jas. W. Batchelor, who for a number of years was a clerk in the Farmers Bank and City Clerk, and grandfather of Mrs. Snively, of this city. Wm. S. Pemberton was a farmer who lived in the Pea Ridge neighborhood, and at one time had a difficulty with a man by the name of Baker at the "Twin Taverns," near Bridgeport, in which Baker was killed. Jas. L. Duke was a blacksmith and the father of

The suit of rooms over Barrett's newsd pot, on Main street, are being modernized and completely overhauled, and will be occupied as a dental office by Dr. W. E. Baxter March 1st. The rooms will be neatly equipped and the office more accessible, especially on account of the easy stairway.

Wm. H. Wheeler,

A prominent contractor and builder, of Adams, N. Y., was a great smoker for years. He liked his cigar but did not like the serious throat trouble that began to come upon him in the shape of a bunch or growth. As he expressed it he was afraid he was going to have a Grant throat. At this stage he began using Dr. Hale's Household Ointment, applying it directly to the bunch inside his throat several times each day. A few weeks of this treatment entirely cured the bad throat and Mr. Wheeler states that it worked a most wonderful cure in his case and that he regards Dr. Hale's Household Ointment as the greatest medicine of the 19th century. It cures all inflammation, 25c. and 50c. boxes at P. H. CARPENTER'S drug store.

PEORIA GLUTEN FEED.

FRANKFORT, January 17, 1895.

I did handle and feed thirty-three (33) cows; it took all of them to supply milk for my customers. PEORIA GLUTEN FEED was recommended to me as superior to any other and I gave it a careful and personal test. I can state that I have been able to dispose of eight (8) of my cows and am now milking only twenty-five (25), which yield more milk than the thirty-three did before using this feed.

DRENNON SPRINGS.

The Old Time Watering Place to Have a Hotel.

The Henry County Local of this week contains the following, which will be of interest to many of our readers, who visit the springs every summer.

The many who have visited this once famous resort will be glad to learn that it will soon regain much of its former glory and renown. Ever since the cholera worked such devastation there, away back in the fifties, the health-seeker has somewhat shunned this place, principally because of the inferior accommodations to be had there. Several attempts have been made to erect and maintain hotels there, but for some cause or other have failed of profitable realization. Success in that direction, however, seems to be assured for the coming season, for a stock company, with $10,000 stock already subscribed, and flattering prospects of more, has been formed, and as soon as the weather permits will begin the erection of a large and commodious hotel there suitable to accommodate several hundred guests. In addition to this other improvements will be added which will make the resort all that those on pleasure bent, or in quest of health could wish. The efficacy of Drennon water as a curative element is known far and near, and the fact that there are ample and pleasant accommodations there will no doubt bring many guests.

Kemp Caught.

The Louisville Times of Thursday afternoon contained the following in regard to a party well-known here:

"Prof." Geo. Kemp, who is charged with obtaining money by false pretenses, was before the City Court this morning. The case was passed till Saturday.

Kemp is charged with victimizing people by taking orders for enlarged pictures which were never delivered. He advertised his studio as at 540 Cross street, Frankfort. Advance payments on the work were exacted. Among the complainants are L. S. Day, Geo. R. Ramsey, Ed. Geisler, Herman Strauss, James McGill, Harry Dudley and Miss Maggie Metz.

Kemp has taken a number of orders here, but so far we have heard of no crookedness in the transactions. He certainly has no studio at 540 Cross street and it is doubted whether he has one anywhere else.

Tobacco Growers to Organize.

The tobacco growers of this county have effected a temporary organization for their mutual benefit, and will perfect that organization at a meeting to be held in this city on next Saturday, the 10th, and all interested are invited to attend the meeting, which will be held at the court house.

SOUTH FRANKFORT.

William Duke who lives on the South Side. Lydall Bacon was the father of the late Robert Bacon. R. D. Owen was a grocer, who had his store in a house on St. Clair street which stood about where the Old Commonwealth building now stands. O. G. Cates was a lawyer who lived for a time where Mr. J. W. Hughes now lives but afterwards bought the lot and built the house now occupied by Judge W. H. Holt, known as the Gen. Rodman property. He removed to St. Louis along in the 50's, where he died and his remains were brought here for interment. The firm of Brown & Hodges was composed of Col. Orlando Brown, sr., and Col. A. G. Hodges, who published the Frankfort Commonwealth for many years. Neal's corner was where Mr. H. R. Williams' grocery now is, at the corner of Second and Bridge streets, and the 'bend of the turnpike' was at the intersection of Second and Shelby streets. That part of Second street sold seems to be in part the ground now being thrown into that street by the widening of Second from Bridge to Taylor avenue, as by the terms of the sale Mrs. Humphreys was to keep open a road around to the mouth of Benson. The bridge over the ravine in front of Mrs. Mitchell's residence has been kept up ever since, as the residence aforesaid is now owned by Mr. T. L. Edelen.

C. S. Bibb was a prominent lawyer and was Commonwealth's Attorney of the district at the time Beauchamp was tried for killing Sharp. James W. Denny was a printer who had an office on Main street and printed the State Reports. John Arnold lived in a small frame house which stood where Phil. Carpenter's drug store now stands. Austin P. Cox was a civil engineer and speculated largely in lands. He was one of the commissioners who, in the latter 50's, reran the line between Kentucky and Tennessee. Sam. Q. Richardson was a lawyer and was killed by John U. Waring at the head of the last flight of steps in the old Mansion House. Waring met him at the head of the steps and shot him as he was about turning towards his room. Wm. N. Pettit was an uncle of Mrs. R. Rogers. John Milam was the father of Captain B. C. Milam and ran a ferry from the present city wharf, landing on the South Side just back of where the City School building now stands. Chas. S. Morehead was a prominent lawyer, who built and lived for many years in the house on Shelby street at present owned by Col. J. Stoddard Johnston. He was a member of Congress from this district, Governor of the State from 1855 to 1859 and was one of the Peace Commissioners from Kentucky to the Border State Convention to try and prevent the war between the States. He died in Mississippi just after the war and is buried in the cemetery here. Harry Mordecai was an honest and highly respected colored man who for many years was the leading plasterer here. Thomas Shockley was a livery man, who furnished the horses to pull the cars up the grade of the first railroad built in the State, which ran from here to Lexington. He was the father of Mr. Thomas Shockley and father-in-law of Capt. B. C. Milam. William Woods was the father of the late G. Marsh Woods. Chas. S. Todd lived where Gen. D. W. Lindsey now lives, and the pump near his property was about in front of the residence of the late Richard Chiles. It has been filled and covered up for many years.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky, as second-class multiple matter.

GEO. A. LEWIS, Editor and Pub.

FRANKFORT, FEBRUARY 9, 1895.

THE LADIES WILL BE IN CHARGE.

The Next Issue of the Roundabout To be Edited by Them.

Next week we expect to turn the ROUNDABOUT over to the ladies of the city, a committee of whom will have entire charge of the issue of February 16th, filling it with such matter as may suit their fancy, and we expect the paper to contain a wonderful amount of good suggestions and bright editorials. In fact it will be by far the best issue of the ROUNDABOUT ever gotten out.

Knew What Was Coming.

It did not take more than one glance at his shadow Saturday to convince the ground hog that he had no business on the outside, and he immediately scampered back into his hole. The wonder is that he even left the hole on the outside. If the past week is a sample of the weather he predicted we are to have for the next five weeks the coal merchants will reap a rich harvest—if they succeed in collecting for all the coal they sell—and there are lots of people who would like to follow the example of the ground hog and go into a hole also.

Fire at Versailles.

A fire occurred at Versailles early Sunday morning which destroyed one of the best and handsomest business blocks in the place. We are sorry to see that our neighbors of the Woodford Sun were among the sufferers by the fire and hope they will soon be all right and in good running order again. Like prudent business men, they carried insurance enough to prevent their loss being very great.

Filled the Vacancies.

The Republican County Committee met at the Capital Hotel on Monday and filled vacancies already existing in the committee and elected new members from the precincts recently created. Mr. D. B. Walcutt was elected Secretary of the committee in place of Mr. Chas. J. Weitzel, resigned.

Broke His Leg.

Mr. Alex. Szymanski was so unfortunate as to slip and fall upon the ice in the yard of his residence on Broadway Monday evening breaking the bone of the left leg, in which he has been crippled for many years. He has since suffered great pain from the injury and grave doubts are entertained of his recovery.

A Long Life Ended.

Mrs Mahala McDowell died Sunday night, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lutherane Backley, on Holmes street, and her funeral took place Tuesday afternoon. The deceased had reached the extreme age of 94 years and had enjoyed almost perfect health until a month or so ago, when she tripped and fell while walking across the floor, breaking her hip. The physicians thought best not to reduce the fracture as, owing to her extreme age, the bones would not knit, and the most that could be done for the old lady was to render her as comfortable as possible. She began to sink in a few days after and continued to grow weaker until the spark of life, which was born with the century, went out forever. She became a member of the Christian Church long years ago and continued a consistent member to the last. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. George Darsie, her pastor, at the home of her daughter and a large number of friends gathered in to pay the last tribute of respect to her memory. She lived long enough to see her grandchildren and great grandchildren, but one great grandchild as well.

Anti-Toxine The Coming Remedy.

Anti-toxine, the new remedy for diphtheria, has been used with several cases in this city recently and has acted like a charm, giving all most instant relief to the patients.

Ten days loss of time on account of sickness and a doctor bill to pay, is anything but pleasant for a man of a family to contemplate, whether he is a laborer, mechanic, merchant or publisher. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexia, Texas, was sick in bed for ten days with the grip during its prevalence a year or two ago. Later in the season he had a second attack. He says: "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with considerable success. I think, only being in bed a little over two days. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy." It should be borne in mind that the grip is much the same as a very severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. When you wish to cure a cold quickly and effectually give this remedy a trial. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by PHIL CARPENTER, South Side druggist.

A Great Offer.

The Louisville Daily Post, published every evening except Sunday is offered with the ROUNDABOUT at $5 per year. The price of The Post alone is $5 per year and our paper $1.00, making this the best offer of the kind ever made.

Subscribers to the ROUNDABOUT who are not taking The Post now can avail themselves of this opportunity by addressing this office or writing to B. G. Boyle, 526 Third street, Louisville.

O. W. O. Hardman, Sheriff of Tyler Co., W. Va., appreciates a good thing and does not hesitate to say so. He was almost prostrated with a cold when he procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says: "It gave me prompt relief. I find it to be an invaluable remedy for coughs and colds." For sale by PHIL CARPENTER, South Side druggist.

PIONEER LIFE IN THE WEST.

Pursuit of Cayuse—Sudden Attack—Retreat of Gillem's Force—Desperate Fighting—Indians Defeated—Fort Whitman Reached.

BY S. R. S.

CHAPTER III.

After the treaty with the Nez Percés and Walla Wallas, 150 picked men were started in pursuit of the retreating Cayuse—Gillem at their head. The scout soon reported the discovery of a lot of wigwams on Polous creek. A night attack was planned, the force divided, and a quick descent in two opposite directions made on the supposed camp. Only a lot of willow brush was found, the scout's imagination supplying the rest. Camp was made on the spot. Early next morning smoke was seen near the mouth of the creek where it emptied into Snake river. Gillem formed his men in line across the valley, and marched in the direction of the smoke. Shortly several Indians were discovered, riding at full speed towards the whites and bearing a white flag. On coming up, they claimed to be friendly. Pelous Indians and stated there were no Cayuse Indians in the vicinity. No attention was paid to their representations and the march was continued. Shortly an Indian camp came into sight, containing only women and children. On the hills adjacent about 100 head of horses and fat cattle were seen. Following a well-beaten path that led up a hill near the creek's mouth, from the summit of the hill could be seen Indians in canoes following large numbers of cattle that were swimming across the river into what is now the State of Washington. One of Gillem's party, without orders, fired a shot that killed one of the Indians in a canoe and came near being court-martialed by Gillem for the act.

The cattle near the Indian camp were ordered to be driven across the creek and ahead of the command by men detailed for the purpose, a different route being taken than the one by which the camp was approached. As the force neared the creek, a man named Thompson suggested to Frazer that they get several of the men and capture as spoils a lot of horses visible on the hills a short distance away. This was agreed to, and beckoning to several that were near, the proposition was explained and they started to drive in the horses while Frazer and Thompson held the ford. The horses were just being started, when two Indians on horseback rode at lightning speed in between the whites and the horses and drove the latter off at a thundering gait. At the same time a number of Indians were noticed approaching through the underbrush near the creek, and being warned by Frazer and Thompson, the men rode for the ford with all speed. The Indians increased rapidly in number until the "woods seemed full of them," and pursued in hot haste. It was a race of life and death. Had not Gillem discovered what was going on and sent a party to their assistance, it is probable the spoils-seeking men would have been massacred. From that time the path of the retreating column under Gillem was beset by enemies on every hand, the Indians seeming to spring up out of every bush. From brush, hillside and ravine they poured a fire on the escaping column—clearly outnumbered the latter three to one. Gillem's retreat was admirably conducted, the force being so managed that the return fire was kept up by platoons in succession, the men becoming habituated to the enemy's presence and discipline rendered easier of observance. Here and there a man would drop from the ranks, wounded by the hostile bullets, and improvised litters, in the hands of comrades, bore them forward. The loss to the savages was severe, but unknown, as they quickly bore away the wounded and dead. After four miles of this constant warfare, a halt was ordered and camp made. The firing did not cease. The cattle were herded in the center of the camp.

Deeming his situation critical, Gillem ordered the cattle to be driven outside the lines and turned loose. This was after dark. As the cattle went out the savages rushed forward and quickly drove them away. This ended the fight for the night. Later, they held a war dance about 200 yards away, beating their war drums, dancing and yelling. Then they gathered on the adjacent hills and called to Gillem's force that they were women and wouldn't fight, and declared that they were going to kill the whites the next day as they crossed the Toosha creek.

For 24 hours Gillem's force had had nothing to eat, and in the condition of demoralized excitement not one of the captured cattle had been killed or kept for food. Imminent destruction seemed to so hover over them that discretion was lost. One old mountaineer had a piece of tallow in his bullet pouch to grease his gun. Half of this he divided with Frazer and never was morsel so sweet.

During the night a council of war was held, and upon the advice of an interpreter named Mungo—a half breed from Fort Walla Walla—it was decided to take a new route known to him and cross the Toosha at a ford higher up than the one on the road they were following. Camp was broken an hour before day and that much start was gained. About 8 o'clock the Indians were seen in pursuit. Forming his men in a hollow square Gillem addressed them. He said their situation was desperate, and only by every man doing his full duty could there be hope of escape. He declared that no Indian ever stood a charge, and, taking them at their own game, his men must charge down on the Indian lines, reserving their fire until close at hand, and he predicted the Indian lines would break and scatter. Then they must gain the brush first—if so, they were safe. Otherwise it was all over with them. Carefully forming his column of attack, at the word of command, Gillem's force rushed like a hurricane upon the enemy, wildly shouting and yelling. The Indians bravely held their ground till the fire of the whites was delivered at close quarters, then they broke and fled. Gillem's force entered the bush first.

So enraged were the Indians when they discovered the advantage gained by their opponent, that in desperation they rushed recklessly to within a few paces and delivered their fire. Numbers of them were killed. Frazer states that near him lay a fine rifle shot named Rhinerson, who killed at least a dozen. As fast as the Indians were killed, or desperately wounded, they were lassoed by their comrades and dragged away to prevent their being scalped.

Gillem's force had possession of the bank above the creek ford and Phil Thompson and a man named Alderney were moving toward the ford, the others following. Seeing several Indians concealed in the grass near the creek, Thompson shot one. Alderney incautiously ran up to scalp him, supposing him dead. The wounded Indian suddenly rose up and shot Alderney, making a fatal wound from which he died in a few days.

For an hour the battle raged fiercely, until the cries and appeals of the squaws were heard, calling upon the warriors to cease fighting lest the "Bostons" (the whites) would kill them all. The Indians then drew away and stood upon a hill in full view. Gillem's men saved them from the tops of their ramrods the scalps they had taken—calling on the Indians to come on and fight—that they were cowards and dogs.

The retreat was then resumed, without further pursuit, and camp made that night one and one-half miles beyond the Toosha. Here the fierce hunger of the men was appeased by the flesh of an Indian stud colt that had followed the command—the meat being broiled on green willow sticks. Messengers were dispatched to Fort Whitman, fifteen miles distant, with a request to send a force to carry in the dead and wounded. This force was met next day. The dead and wounded were being borne on litters, rudely constructed. Fort Whitman was a haven of rest as well as a place of sorrow—funeral services being held and the dead reverently interred.

J. W. Fairbanks,

Postmaster at Mankato, Neb., writes us as follows: I have taken but one package of your Dr. Hale's Household Tea and it is the first medicine I have found that has done me any good. For 30 years I have been troubled with liver and kidney troubles, growing worse all the time. For the last 10 years I have not been able to do much or any work. I feel dull, sleepy and as though I could not stir. My bowels would not move oftener than once a week. After taking one package I am much better and now can take hold of work. Have a good appetite and bowels regular. For dyspepsia, constipation, all liver and kidney troubles, etc., it has no equal. Only 25c and 50c, a package at P. H. CARPENTER'S drug store, if

COLD WEATHER.

Great Chunks of It, and we are Right in the Middle of the Heap.

Between Old Probs, the goose bone, Prof. Hicks and the ground hog we have gotten into a terrible spell of weather again. Saturday was bright and pleasant, Sunday was not so pleasant, Monday cold and disagreeable, Tuesday and Wednesday a fine snow fell, Thursday it grew very cold and yesterday morning the mercury registered 10° below zero. During yesterday the temperature rose some six or eight degrees but last night was going down and this morning promised to be even colder than any morning we have had during the winter. The signal service does not promise any let up for several days and Professor Foster, the St. Joseph, Missouri, weather prophet, says the coldest weather is likely to be to-morrow or Monday.

The river was frozen over Tuesday morning for the first time and is now covered with ice several inches thick.

Croakers Say the Fruit is Killed.

As is usual in very cold weather, lots of people who profess to know are coming forward with the statement that all the fruit is killed. Hecter Hillenmeyer, the old reliable nurseryman, of Lexington, does not agree with these croakers, however—and his opinion on the subject is worth more than any man's in this section—but still they go right on singing the same old song. And now comes Buck Rowlett, the pious editor of the Oldham Era, who lives right in the heart of a fruit country, and lifts up his voice in the same strain, but finds something to be thankful for in the present returns, even though the blackberries and pawpaws have not been heard from. He says: "Not only the peaches, cherries and plums are killed, but good judges say the grape crop will be short from one-half to two-thirds, and the apple buds are about all dead. Let us be thankful that the roasting ears are not injured as yet."

Here is what Mr. Hillenmeyer says, and it can be relied on as correct: "To this date winter conditions have favored fruit interests. The sudden and severe cold of January 12 has seriously injured peaches. They may be entirely killed in some localities, but I am sure there is yet a fair crop left in many parts of the State. Nothing else is seriously injured, and the prospect now is that there will be at least a moderate and perhaps a full crop of all fruit of all kinds."

thickness of the bud scales makes reasonable the hope. With only the usual adverse conditions, we are now safe until the period of the late spring frosts."

The Appellate Contest.

The trial of the contest of Col. St. John Boyle against Judge Sterling B. Toney for the Court of Appeals Judgeship from the Louisville district was begun in this city Monday before the State Contest Board, composed of the Governor, Auditor, Attorney General, Treasurer and Secretary of State. Monday and Tuesday were taken up with hearing evidence and Wednesday argument as to whether the contested ballots should be admitted as evidence was begun and not concluded until Thursday afternoon, when the case was submitted and the board adjourned until Monday, when they will probably render a decision as to whether they will admit the ballots.

It's a Mistake

To neglect caring for a cough or cold. Every time you cough you increase the trouble and soon an inflammation is started that in a short time is difficult to control. Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure has such a magic effect upon a cough, allaying all irritation so quickly, that every person in the land should always have a bottle of this wonderful medicine on hand to begin taking at once upon the first appearance of a cold. It costs only 25c and 50c a bottle at P. H. CARPENTER'S drug store.

An Elegant Affair.

On Tuesday evening, February 5th, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Harper (nee Miss Clara Alley) entertained in honor of their nieces, Misses Mary Holton and Luella Powell, of the Forks of Elkhorn. At nine o'clock the spacious parlors presented a lovely appearance when one hundred young people swayed to the sweet strains of "Coming Through the Rye." At twelve o'clock the dining room was thrown open and the table, laden with a most sumptuous repast, was beautifully decorated with carnations, ferns, etc. It was three o'clock before the throng of beautiful young ladies and gallant young men could get their consent to retire from the scene of so much bliss.

The Modern Invalid

Has tastes medicinally, in keeping with other luxuries. A remedy must be pleasantly acceptable in form, purely wholesome in composition, truly beneficial in effect and entirely free from every objectionable quality. If really ill he consults a physician, if constipated he uses the gentle family laxative Syrup of Figs.

R. C. Taylor, Murfreesboro, Tenn., writes: "I have used the Japanese Pile Cure with great satisfaction and success."
